

In an effort to provide better customer service and more accurate order picking we have instituted the following ordering timeline. This timeline will help insure that your order is processed and pulled carefully, and that we will have time to respond back to you if an out of stock or substitution occurs. We appreciate your help in this matter. You will also note that for most regions we deliver twice a week – so if your order is not in time for the first truck, it will be routed to the next truck going to your area.

Trucks are loaded the night before the delivery day, and orders are pulled the day before the delivery day. Orders need to be entered 2 days before delivery to guarantee timely delivery.
